The Fifth Law of Robotics (Jack in the Bots Book 2) R J W Seddon

The second book in the series "Jack in the Bots" deals with the Jack's attempt to save himself by going into hiding. Government agents Barringer and Campbell pull out all the stops in an attempt to capture and kill all copies of "OJ" (Organic Jack). Jack hires some orphans and sets himself up as a sort of benevolent Fagin. He also rescues some comatose people and uses their bodies. Ultimately he makes cloned copies of himself and others, resulting in numerous dispersions of self. From time to time, seemingly at whim, his various copies merge and split and merge again, to consolidate memories and experiences. The clown news anchor Bozeman catches up with Sam who has also made multiple copies and they formulate "The Laws of Clonbotics" which are patterned after the well-known Asimov laws concerning mere mechanical robotics. Barringer and Campbell are still resolved to destroy all copies due to their conclusion that the copies will reproduce at an exponential rate and take over humanity.
