Coralena Michael Mail

What the parents run from, the children seek out.

It's Germany, 1972. A young woman, Sophia, awakes in her new apartment. She is leaving her past, with all its troubles and traumas behind. Life seems full of possibility. At work her boss has given her new responsibilities; here, Dieter appears as interested in her as she is in him; untouched since the war the flat, like her life, seems ripe for renewal. She awakes, full of these promises, and looking across the room sees written in the morning condensation on the inside window one word - RAGE.

'A novel of high drama and suspense... Mail holds the reader on a knife-edge.' Sunday Express

'A well-constructed narrative, paced to perfection... Mail is not just a master of pace, he has an eye for telling detail.' Sunday Telegraph
